About us

We are one of the few City employment law teams who act for employers and employees which gives us a unique tactical and strategic advantage when dealing with workplace issues for our employer clients.

Our employment team is highly regarded in the market, and is recognised in the Legal 500 Directory for its effective advice for employer clients. Most of our clients come via recommendations from existing and former clients, which bears testament to our credentials and the confidence our clients have in the advice and service that we provide.

Our employment team combines determination, intelligence and sound judgment to deliver the best possible outcome for you. We have an intuitive insight into how employees are likely to act and this helps us to provide relevant and commercial advice, and to achieve excellent results for our clients.

Litigation is often a last-resort, but sometimes our clients do have to pursue or defend claims in the High Court or in the Employment Tribunal. We have an excellent track record in the claims that we have been instructed to pursue or defend.
